Remember...

Remember the joys we've shared here,
Remember as time goes by.
Remember when you are old, dear,
Fairfax is with you until you die.
Remember the friends we've made here
Through all eternity,
For if you remember Fairfax
She'll always remember you.

FOREWORD

"Remember" . . . . . that is the theme of the 1962 CHAIN AND ANCHORS.

As the members of the Senior Class of 1962 pass through the gates of Fairfax Hall for the last time, we will leave behind a part of our lives. Never again will the forty-six girls who were so close during their senior year be together. It is a sad time, and yet a happy time, for the days each girl has spent at Fairfax have prepared her for a fuller and even more enjoyable life.

The days ahead will be busy ones, but there will always be time to look back and recall the happy days at Fairfax. We hope that the 1962 CHAIN AND ANCHORS will bring us together again from time to time and help us to "Remember".

DEDICATION

Never-ending concern, sure understanding, unfailing guidance, and continual good humor . . . . . these phrases describe him. Each student at Fairfax Hall is grateful to him for his help in planning both her high school and her college days. For these reasons, and many more, we dedicate the 1962 CHAIN AND ANCHORS to

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1962

When the Senior Class of 1958 was graduated a group of high school girls from all over the country, and from distant lands, too, decided that Fairfax Hall needed a new and different kind of senior class. So, in September of 1958, a small band of girls bravely entered the gates of Fairfax to become the founders of the class which would be graduated on June 9, 1962.

They were a small but mighty band of freshmen. Jeep Willis and Joan Livers, having only a short distance to travel from Culpeper and Charlottesville, were the first to arrive and prepare the freshman dorm for Kathy Dye, who had been a long time on the road from Venezuela. Soon the barefooted West Virginia girls, Buckland, Karen Martin, and Christie, who wanted to specialize in snack bar management, appeared and were horrified when Miss Bruce told them that they had to wear heels to Saturday night dinner. Equally alarmed were Beth Johnson, who was used to the soft beaches of Nassau and Flea, who had lived on the sand dunes of Arabia. Despite minor difficulties in the dorm, such as stuffed bells, overturned trash cans, and nightly vigils with Miss Bruce, this small but mighty band struggled through their freshman year.

In the fall of 1959 these seven were joined by new forces. Wanting to be part of the glorious class of '62 two more West Virginians, Marion Bacon and Tut, left the hills. Tut did have shoes and called much attention to them because they were Weejuns. From Wilmington, Delaware, came Christian and Spackman, who discovered that they lived only a few blocks from each other. (Now they were only a few feet apart.) Virginia added two more representatives, M. Sue, who arrived on horseback from Roanoke, and Alice Tolley who proclaimed that Chubby Checker was saying "Willis in Warwick," instead of "Wailin' in Wildwood."

The foreign delegation flew in to give moral support to Kathy Dye. Tracy talked over old times in Venezuela with her while Sara Jane and Maria filled in on Panama and Honduras. Maria was just learning English and nobody could understand why she disliked bananas.

Our first delegates from New England, Susie and Emily, arrived that fall, too. They were not so enthusiastic about the class of '62 as they were about the boys, Pete and Dave. Fairfax was really dominated by Yankee accents that year with Liz and Sargent from New Jersey, Karlene and Nancy from New York. Even Jessie, with her soft Georgia accent, was beginning to sound like she hailed from Brooklyn. This didn't bother Kathy Williams, though; she couldn't stop talking long enough to listen to anybody's accent. As Lynda Nichols came in from North Carolina to hear stories of Arabia from Flea, the reinforced class of '62 again got underway.

The 1959 newcomers must have been a steadying influence on the older members because no major riots occurred during the winter of 1959-60; that is, none that can be mentioned here. With the coming of the juniors in September, 1960, things got back to normal — that is, normal for the class, not for the administration. The girl who was farthest from home was Barbie Nagle who flew in from Bombay, India, complete with sarong, and took away from Buckland the title of "shortest member". The Tampa group had received the word and came in full force. Stephanie and Allen, who always got her mail addressed to Mr. Allen Simpson, were the first to come. Stephanie's laugh and never-ending conversation were unmistakable. Soon Baird and Honey Baby, who astounded everybody by her height, and surprised even more people by her name, could stay away no longer and joined the Tampa crew at second semester.

Virginia was again well represented. Diane Turner came to help Alice on her "Willis in Warwick" stand, and Christy Holladay came across the mountain to help Joan Livers represent Charlottesville. Susan Flanagan appeared from Dublin, where her father, the mayor, had taught her how to shoot baskets.

From Easton, Maryland, came Myrtis and Lili Kay with their Metrecal - Myrtis to lose and Lili Kay to gain weight. Suddenly, who should drive up in her jeep but Linda Curtis. She had a long trip from Waynesboro and was astounded when she couldn't take Carole Lober, who had just arrived from Florida, for a drive into town to see Mac.

Sue Kenney came in late from Connecticut and was dismayed when she and Jeep couldn't go over to U. Va. that afternoon. Roe Ellen was only too glad not to accompany them for her trip from the hills of Tennessee had tired her out quite a bit. She had had to walk until she reached the Virginia border. The trip hadn't bothered Bobbie Craig much, though; she just hoped she wouldn't have to walk when her family moved to New Mexico. Bettie "I-am-not-a-hillbilly" Carter came down from Charleston, to add one more member to the West Virginia delegation. On the train she met Cylinda, who was feeling lonesome since she was the only representative from Michigan. Carter, feeling sorry for her, decided to help her to change Cathy Holland's Alabama accent to a northern one. The final result was that both Betty and Finny developed southern drawls.

There was some anxiety over the arrival of Donna and Sonja. They finally got here but so late that they had to live in the freshman dorm since all the junior rooms were filled. It seems that the time slipped up on Donna while she was delivering messages to Fishburne, and that Sonja had so many hair-do's to fix that she just couldn't get away in time to make her train.

At last the whole class was assembled and what a class it was! The junior year, including trips to the dairy bar and various other events, was climaxed with the junior banquet, the junior-senior picnic, and commencement.

Returning in September the forty-six girls began enthusiastically on their job of having fun, frustrating the faculty, and just being the class of 1962. Somehow they survived all misfortunes, such as the revoking of privileges caused by a fire drill that wasn't really a fire drill; rain or snow on Friday nights necessitating wearing boots to town, thus making one look unattractive to one's boy friend; and the use of emerald instead of pastel green crepe paper for Ring Figure.

As far as all of us are concerned, 1961-62 has been the best year of all. The wonderful thing about our history is that it will not end on June 9, 1962. Even though this will be the last time we will all be together as we are now, we will all live together forever in our hearts and memories. The class of '62 has accomplished its goal, for these memories are perhaps an even more accurate account than could ever be kept in files and records, for they will end only with our own lives.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The date is June 9, 1972, and the place is the famous Peppermint Lounge in New York City, where, as you all know, members of high society, members of pseudo-society, and members of the Senior Class of '62 gather to indulge in that hip-gyrating craze known as "the twist."

Almost all of the class members are present, but Susan Flanagan and Sue Kenney are unable to leave the Olympic Events being held in Rome on this same date. From the press reviews we learn that Kay Fleharty and Mary Tutwiler have also gone to the Olympics with high hopes of winning the discus event.

The rest of the class has come, however, and one of the first to arrive was Princess Kathy Williams who is now reigning over Israel with the hopes of personally executing Adolph Eichmann. Roe Ellen Coleman was the next to appear, with her two famous cohorts, Sonja Parrish and Tracy Steiner. The three nuclear scientists have been to Russia for some months now trying to gain the secret of the properties and behavior of the yo-yo. Success has been hinted at but the team refused to tell us of any new developments.

After more of the class arrived we took the largest table in the place and began to catch up on all the news. The famous gossip columnist, Alice Tolley, told us that she had just printed news of Actress Nancy Gamard's wedding to one of filmdoms brightest magicians. The only problem seems to be that Nancy hasn't been seen for weeks. Emily Fish, the winner of the National Lonely Hearts Clubs contest, was on hand to give us some information on one of her latest romances. A certain young socialite, Diane Turner, divorced for the third time, is longing for some male companionship. Miss Turner's lawyer, the famous Jenny Christie, will run for Senator from West Virginia. Miss Christie's campaign slogan is "Don't ask yourself what I can do for you, but what can you do for me?" The election seems to be in the bag with campaign manager Marion Bacon claiming that Miss Christie may never have been on a PT boat but that she has been in deep water plenty of times.

About this time some of the latecomers drifted into the Lounge and among them were Lili Kay Baynard who has just won the highest award in the country for physical fitness, and Beth Johnson who is now a housemother at the Staunton Home for the Aged.

No one has heard from the famous author, Janet Christian, who was last seen singing the Marine Hymn as she was carried to Walden Pond. Another elusive member of the class, Bettie Carter, arrived and told us of her latest book. How to Take Trig and Enjoy It. The book is being published by the Hill Publishing Company of Wolfeboro, New Hampshire, where the president of the company, Susie Hill, has just issued this statement concerning Miss Carter's book, "It's really whoop-ee-doo."

Baird Brown and H. B. Landrum popped in a few minutes later with their ukes in hand. We just found out that both of them are involved in quite a lot of social work and spend most of their time serenading the inmates of the Florida State Hospital. One of their prime reasons for this type of work is to set an example for their old friend, Allen Simpson, who used to be a bubble dancer in one of the Tampa night clubs. The girls told us that since they had just returned from the Southland they were pleased to inform us that Joan Livers is now running V.P.I. and Cathy Holland is the quartermaster for all ships in the Norfolk Navy Yard.

As the evening wore on, two more members of our beloved class arrived — Carole Lober, who is now selling suntan lotion in northern Oregon, and Liz Nelson, who is the president of Princeton University. The girls had lots to tell us but by far the most interesting thing was that Karen Martin and Barbie Nagle are running a transport system from Baghdad to Burma. Karen feeds the elephants and Barbie helps them to remember the right roads.

Just before we had the last course of our meal and had danced a few more times the famous rancher, Carol Sargent, and her new foreman, Donna Delaney, arrived. Kathy Dye, the renowned physical education teacher, was in New York delivering a lecture on her remarkable ability to chew gum in all places at all times. Members of her physical fitness staff include Sharon Buckland, reported to have the largest biceps of any living woman, and Christy Holladay, her expert on skinny people. The model for their tour was Stephanie Sears, who is still wearing corrective shoes, or bombers.

Jeep Willis, the famous comedienne, told us later that she was launching a new act and planning to have Mary Sue Younger, the bareback rider, get on a horse and run over her on the stage. Dr. Lynda Nichols was called in after the first rehearsal and merely asked, "Who cares?" Others in the act include the artistic Linda Curtis, who is now painting ceiling portraits with her assistant, Marie Ruiz, in the main government office building in what used to be Havana. The notorious politician, Cylinda Finlayson, has been down in the South American countries trying to get reinstated in her old job as prime minister in Argentina. The leader of the leftist movement in that country, Sara Jane Carter, is still demonstrating her beautiful and artistic dancing abilities.

Just as the party was ending, Bobbie Craig, who is currently competing for the National Tropical Fish Eating Award, and Karlene Pfister, who recently won the Nobel Prize for her book, Being a Dean for Fun and Profit, came dashing in. Before we adjorned we felt that it was in order to have a moment of silence for Ginny Spackman and Jessie MacDougald, old friends of ours who perished when trying to escape from the Robot they created in Professor McMahan's laboratory at M.I.T.

We were all tired and ready to go to bed and the time was late (it must have been 10:30) so we adjourned for the evening and hoped that in our sightseeing trip tomorrow we would see if everyone really does do the twist, or if we were just raised to believe differently.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE SENIOR CLASS

The Last Will and Testament of the Senior Class of 1962 of Fairfax Hall of the City of Waynesboro, County of Augusta, State of Virginia, made and published this eighth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Sixty-Two.

We, the Senior Class of Fairfax Hall, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament in the following manner:

ARTICLE I

Section 1

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to Fairfax Hall, our Alma Mater, our eternal devotion and gratitude for the experiences we have shared, and the guidance given us through many wonderful days.

Section 2

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. W. B. Gates, Jr. our President, our gratitude for his understanding and his efforts to make our years at Fairfax ones which we will always remember with fondness.

Section 3

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to Dean Robbins L. Gates our sincere gratitude for his guidance and assistance in our high school and college plans, and for his concern for our many problems.

Section 4

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Harry Nash our deepest thanks for the interest he has shown and the help he has given to our class.

Section 5

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to Miss Lillian Bruce, our Dean and Sponsor, our indebtedness for her concern and understanding, and the hope that the guidance she has given us may continue to be of benefit to us.

Section 6

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to the faculty and staff our love and thanks for their interest in us and their determination not to let us depart from our Alma Mater without having profited from our days here.

Section 7

We, the Senior Class of 1962, do hereby will and bequeath to the Senior Class of 1963, and to those of years to come, our devotion to the administration, faculty, staff, and the spirit of Fairfax Hall, trusting that they will uphold the traditions, honor the name, and preserve our love for the Alma Mater.

ARTICLE II

I, Marion Bacon, being of stingy mind, do hereby leave oh . . . . . uh . . . . . to a . . . . oh, forget it, I'm taking it all with me.

I, Lili Kay Baynard, being of brain-washed mind and frail body, do hereby will and bequeath to Val Orth my ability to eat everything and never gain an ounce. To Lynn Wager I leave my constant trouble-making and to Miss Tyler I leave my sympathy for being so unfortunate as to have me in gym class.

I, Baird Brown, being of strong mind and undernourished body, do hereby will and bequeath to Nancy Mosenson my Florida tan, to Betsy Elsas my maturity, and to Janet Horne my ability to never worry.

I, Sharon Buckland, do hereby devise, will and bequeath to Lynn Wager my love for twisting and my Twist albums. To Hydie Shull I leave my love of good old West Virginia, and, of course, for hockey. To Mosey, Janet, Chris, and Jeanie, I leave best wishes for a wonderful senior year, and I do hereby leave the "favorite four" and Fairfax forever.

I, Bettie Carter, leave my room next to the smoker to anyone who likes noise at all times, and to Lynn Wager and Robin Lies I leave French class.

I, Sara Jane Carter, being of befuddled mind, do hereby will and bequeath to Romaine Kelley my love for Central America (Lucho Azcarrago!), to Marlene Halperin my art for organization, and to Susan Chickering our heated discussions in the senior bathroom.

I, Janet Christian, being of ample body and stagnant mind, do hereby will my amazing ability to sing lower than any human alive to Dean Gates, in the hope that he will continue to delight and entertain at the bi-weekly sing-a-longs usually held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 10:00.

I, Jenny Christie, being of sound Democratic mind and body, do hereby leave my H_2O_2 hair to Mrs. Loving and my marvelous Spanish accent with the West Virginia drawl to Mrs. Burnett.

I, Roe Ellen Coleman, leave Chris Hartman many memories of Saturday nights and to Caroline Jones I leave a broom in hopes that she learns to use it

I, Bobbie Craig, being of exhausted mind and unsound body, do hereby will and bequeath to Rusty Shepherd and Jeanne Burbank the miseries of the heating problem in room 118, to Leslie Parkin my ability to miss the ping pong ball when it is my turn and be able to hit it when it isn't my turn, and to Ann Harlan I leave my love for food.

I, Linda Curtis, being of unorganized mind, do will to Jeanie Wager an organized, calm ring figure, and to Elise White I leave my talent for beating on people's backs.

I, Donna Delaney, do hereby leave my daily letters and phone calls from Fishburne to Tammy Jenkins, my will-power on diets to Dotty Hooker. To my roommate, Susan Chickering, I leave my alarm clock, since she loves it so.

I, Kathy Dye, being of diminished mind and disjointed body, do hereby leave my voice to Miss Brown, my arms to Mrs. Blackburn, and my legs to Miss Tyler, and all my free time to Mrs. Burnett. My aches I take conmiga.

I, Cylin Finlayson, being physically small and mentally corrupted, do hereby will "Little Reb" in P.J.'s to C. B. Cline (Jr.) I leave Muzzy my math ability, Robin my love for a certain record, Lynni my hats, CiCi my "game for anything" and to Sallie Smith I leave my Mask for early morning.

I, Emily Fish, being of unsuitable body and less suitable mind, do leave my place as the only senior from Winchester, Massachusetts, to Sue Manimon, the only junior with the requirements to fill it. I also leave my will to stop smoking to anyone who wants to save money as badly as I do.

I, Susan Flanagan, do hereby leave to Val Birney all my Metrecal, the good times on the infirmary wing to Ann Harlan and Jane McHendry, and my love of sports to anyone who loves sports.

I, Kay Fleharty, being of sound mind and no body, do hereby leave to Libbi Little my place in study hall and my "fleas" to the rest of the dogs.

I, Nancy Gamard, being of undernourished body and over-antique mind, do hereby leave my tremendous dramatic and artistic ability to Chris Westphal and my seat on the Long Island Railroad to Gail Fuller.

I, Susie Hill, will leave with Pete.

I, Christy Holladay, being of fatigued mind and skinny body, do hereby leave my Joan Baez record to Mosey, knowing that she will appreciate it as I did.

I, Cathy Holland, do leave my love for trips home and the South to Ann Ramsay. To Lynda Gellatly I leave the bunk beds in room 108.

I, Beth Johnson, leave my ability to keep my hair halfway decent to Ann Ramsay, and to Jan Wall and Jeanie Wager I leave all the pleasant sounds of room 115 on Saturday and Sunday mornings, and hope that you all can sleep through it.

I, Sue Kenney, being of very forgetful mind and northern body, do hereby leave to Sallie Smith my Mr. Wall, to Ann Ramsay my mischievous times, and my most memorable college date times to anyone who has permission from Mom and Dad.

I, Honey Baby Landrum, will leave.

I, Joan Livers, being of sound mind and under-sized body, do hereby leave to Louise Hughston my romance with the colt, and my love of rings I leave to Katie Saunders.

I, Carole Lober, do hereby will my year-around suntan to Janet Horne. To Chris Hartman I leave my love for the coke machine on the weekends, in hopes that she will continue to enjoy it in her senior year. To Leslie Parkin I leave my ability to smoke in the right places and the right times. To Lynn Wager I leave South Orange.

I, Jessie MacDougald, being of emaciated body and too many pink slips, do hereby leave to Lynn Wager my French III book and my smoking permission. To all the Atlanta girls I leave my fond memories of the "Southerner", and to Val Orth all the popcorn left at Fairfax Hall.

I, Karen Martin, being of wilted mind and uncoordinated body, do hereby will and bequeath my love for Williamsburg to Betsy Elsas, and my ability to get into embarrassing situations in D.C. to Val Birney.

I, Myrtis McMahan, leave my hatred for the scales and my good times on the infirmary wing to Ann Harlan, and I leave my dread of long Government assignments to anyone who attempts that subject.

I, Barbie Nagle, of minimum body, do hereby will and bequeath to Ginger Snuggs my position as littlest senior.

I, Liz Nelson, being of rundown body and brainwashed mind, do hereby leave my luck at getting good fortunes to all chewers of Bazooka bubblegum, and my worn-out Weejuns to anyone who wants to slop around in them.

I, Lynda Nichols, being of a nervous mind, will to Jan Wall my ability in and love for gym, and to Jeanie Wager my fondness for Junior Wing.

I, Sonja Parrish, being of sound mind and body, leave the memories of the Williamsburg trip to Sue and Kitten. My ratting toothbrush I leave to anyone brave enough to accept it, and to Miss Tyler I leave my white streak.

I, Karlene Pfister, being of confused mind, shattered memory, and weak lungs, give to Jill Byrd my ability to turn in an unorganized riding notebook; to Barbara Allen I leave my desire to bum cigarettes. My skill for being late to Dramatics I leave to anyone whom this interests. To Fricke and Ballet I leave a year of hunting and showing (wearing our green), and last, but certainly not least, my ability to keep a Northern accent I leave to Barbara Townsend if she tries hard enough to keep it.

I, Maria Ruiz, leave to Dinorah Lundt my taste for bananas and my ability to love skinny boys. To Kay Saunders I leave my fancy for pierced ears and to Nancy Biehle the word "burra".

I, Carol Sargent, leave my megaphone to Norrie Baxter and Lydia Hodgson, and the train rides to New Jersey to Lynn Wager.

I, Stephanie Sears, being of sound mind and strong body, do bequeath my boisterous laugh to Lynda Gellatly in hopes that she will keep the halls echoing.

I, Allen Simpson, being of tortured mind and emaciated body, do hereby leave all of my ability to be an artist to Lynda Gellatly. To Jan Wall and Jeanie Wager I leave my love for Fairfax Hall. To Mary Ann McKinney I leave my place on the Dean's List, and Chris Hartman I leave.

I, Ginny Spackman, being greatly in love, do hereby leave Fairfax for Hillsdale, Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, or wherever Jimmy may be.

I, Tracy Steiner, being of twisted mind, loud mouth, and enough body, do hereby will and bequeath my strange ability to have more than one date in a single night to Jeanne Burbank, my love for the smoker to Mary Ann McKinney, my wonderful luck on getting in embarrassing situations and my love for F.M.S. to Val Birney.

I, Alice Tolley, do hereby will to Hydie Shull, my favorite table-mate, a key so that the next time she breaks her arm she can lose it inside her cast again. I leave my nickname to anyone who will have it.

I, Diane Turner, will my place on Dean's List to Jan Wall; to Sallie Smith I leave my ability to stay true to the boy back home; and to Cindy Stopher I leave Jimmy Walker.

I, Mary Tutwiler, being of unopened books and obviously warped mind, do hereby leave my love for West Virginia to Hydie Shull, my Vassar sweat shirt to Mosie as I will have no further use for it, and to Gail Fuller I leave Miss Webster. I hereby leave "Crazy Legs" Hartman.

I, Kathy Williams, being happy to graduate, do will to Gloria Cline my love for the West. To Tammy Jenkins I leave all the cadets at F.M.S. in hopes that she will find a sufficient antidote for a certain J. H.

I, Jeep Willis, being "here" physically, and "away" mentally, do hereby leave my place in the smoker to Tammy Jenkins; to Jeanie Wager I leave my ability to remain faithful to the boy back home, and finally, I turn over to Hydie Shull, Marty Atwood and Lynda Gellatly my four years of cherished memories.

I, Mary Sue Younger, being of exhausted mind and battered body, do leave Fairfax Hall with many wonderful memories. To my dear roomie, Ann, I leave an alarm clock that she and only she can hear. To Fricke I leave an empty stall in the barn and the wonderful times at hunts and shows, especially in Roanoke. Last but not least, I leave "Cupcake" to next year's seniors for their Ring Figure weekend.

SUZANNE WOOTTEN
Smyrna, Delaware

Certainly I'm going to classes; what time is it? . . . How dry I am . . . Sing along with Willy time . . . Now which one's the girl? . . . Heels down, kid, and you and I'll go places! . . . Why, sure, we'd love to go for a ride . . . It takes two to tango . . . Let's hope the limb doesn't break . . . A new relation? . . . Don't scream at me; you look pretty bad yourself . . . You'll wonder where the yellow went . . . The line-up . . . What I like least about horses . . . Are trash cans comfortable, Flanagan? . . . Certainly blondes have more fun.
